SAINT CECILIA'S ACADEMY

Twenty-eighth Annual Commencement Yesterday Afternoon.

Misses A. M. O'Connor, G. I. Townshend and E. F. Williams, Members of Graduating Class, Spoke.

Those who attended the twenty-eighth annual commencement exercises of St. Cecilia's Academy, in Metzerott- Hall, yesterday afternoon, were fortunate in the fact of presenting themselves early for seats were at a premium.

The decoration of the hall was an interesting feature. Figgs of all nations, old glory predominating, lung in graceful folds from the boxes and gallery front, while on the wall back of the stage two large flags were looped up and fistened with the colors of the class and the academy. Along the footlights there was a perfect bank of flowers and potted plants extend-back to the ends of the big arch which was itself decorated high up with smilax. Moore, J. P. Tree Furnishes Water Tree Furnishes Water.

In one of the Canary islands there is a tree of the laurel family that rains down occasionally in the early evening quite a copious shower of water drops from its tufted foliage. This water often collects at the foot of the tree and forms a kind of the control from which the inhabitants of the f pond, from which the inhabitants of the neighborhood can supply themselves with a deliking beverage that is absolutely fresh and pure. The water comes out of the tree itself through insumerable little pores situated, at the margin of the leaves.

A bud the Gardener gave us,
A pure and lovely child;
He gave it to cur keeping.
To cherish undefiled.
But Just as it was opening.
To the glories of the day,
Down came the Heavenly Gardener.
And took our bud away.
